OUT IN FRONT

Hamilton Southeastern High School

Earning Our Position

Just another day in just another high school with the same people, the same classes, and the same activities. Wrong — if you attended Hamilton Southeastern.

Who would have believed in the fall of '81 that there would be students crawling on their knees praising seniors, a trophy case crammed with awards, students dressed in the New Wave fashions of punk rock, or that politicians frequently would be seen in our hallways. These are just a few of the activities that added that special quality.

In every area our school demonstrated its competitive quality. We boasted successful athletic teams, prestigious student organizations, a supportive community, and an enthusiastic student body. Every area that we excelled in gave our school that extra edge. In the beginning no one realized our position, but as our awards were presented and our activities earned praise we suddenly realized we really were OUT IN FRONT.

Abused freshmen. Freshmen slaves Carla Duncan, Tracey North, Maria Utter, Angie King, Kevin Mills, and Tina Beaver cheer to the seniors during first period lunch.

Surrounded. Senior Doug Beebe prepares to perform his trumpet solo as the smiling faces of Juniors Linda Gordon and Lynn McKinnies frame the view.

Singing along. Freshman Lori Findley, a member of the girls' choir, performs during the Christmas program.

OUT IN FRONT

All Around Us

The 2:35 bell sounded and instantly students swarmed toward the doors. Now it was their time to do whatever they liked until the 7:45 bell summoned them again the next day.

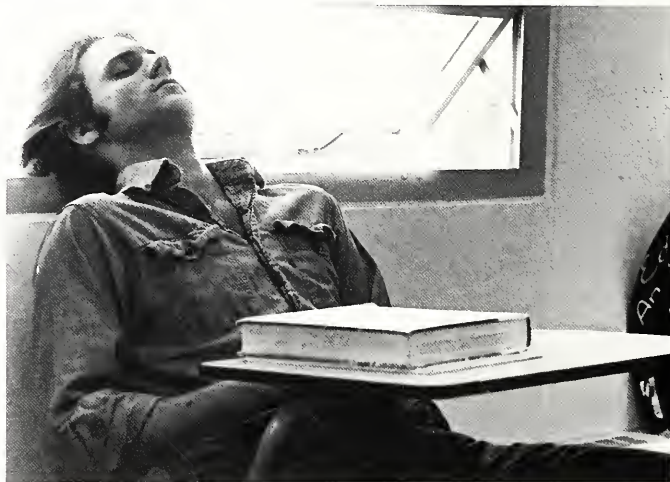

Everything from the school sponsored Senior Boss Day to the rising tensions between Argentina and Great Britain affected the students' lives. The local conflict in the Fishers' Fire Department as well as the primary election campaigns all had an impact on our lives.

Whether students enjoyed participating in "Death Takes a Holiday" or whether they were content just to spend time with their friends, they still did it with style. Even in their leisure time, our students were above and OUT IN FRONT of all others.

Taking a break. Senioritis and spring fever have obviously hit Senior Greg Osborne with a bang. He takes time out of third period government class to relax.

Double take. Senior Doug Beebe and Junior Mike Blayne work hard during homeroom in hopes of perfecting their act.

Student Life

"Full of It"

Full of Spirit! The teachers and students were full of it during Homecoming week.

"Southeastern Goes Western" began with a real bang with Monday as Western Day. Tuesday received the most participation by students and brought them to school in their sweat-suits. Wednesday students and teachers arrived wearing their buttons and sunglasses; Thursday, their favorite college T-shirt; and Friday, their favorite red, blue, and white outfit for the traditional Spirit Day.

For the first time Girls Powder Puff Football took place. Even though the games were restricted to flags, several bruises and broken fingers were received.

The first game, played with the juniors against the freshmen, ended with the juniors winning the contest by the score of 18-0. The next game pitted the seniors against the sophomores and ended with the seniors pulling out the victory 12-6. The championship game was played Thursday evening at the pep rally. In a very close match-up of size, weight, and ability, the juniors pulled out the victory over the seniors by the score of 14-0.

Skits were a main attraction at the pep rally along with the election of the Homecoming queen, king, and court.

Other phases of class competition for Homecoming included float building, which was won by the band entry, and the hall-decorating won by the sophomores.

Rugged Action. Juniors and freshmen battle for the title of Powder Puff champs.

What now?! Senior Sheri Brown contemplates the seniors' strategy in the Powder Puff games.

Anticipation. Junior Amber Chastain nervously awaits the outcome of the play during practice for the Powder Puff game.

Draw! Sophomores Kelly Noblitt, Carolyn O'Day, Kim Helscr, Vicki Baker, and Lisa King tell the crowd, "You can't out-draw the Royals."

Senior Kurt Keefer shows his spirit during dress-up day the week of Homecoming.

The seniors placed third in the float competition which was led by the band, followed by the juniors with second, the sophomores fourth, and the freshmen fifth.

Finally Overflowing

By fifth period Friday, the students were ready for Game Day, which consisted of thirteen events. At the end of all the games, the standings were as follows: fourth place, sophomores; third place, freshmen; second place, seniors; and first place went to the juniors.

The Homecoming queen, king, and court, chosen by the students, were announced at the pep rally Thursday night. The freshmen class was represented by Donna Zook and Brian Cooke. Suzy Blayney and Tim Wiseman were chosen by the sophomores. The juniors elected Amber Chastain and Mike Blayney as their princess and escort. Seniors Sally Heidenreich and Tom Hirschfeld rounded out the court. The 1981 Homecoming Queen, Gina Poore, escorted by King, Frank Leonard, led the procession of the Royal court and floats around the track during the half-time show.

At the end of the game, the Royals captured another victory by the score of 33-0 over the Zionsville Eagles. Most of the fans who enjoyed the game also enjoyed the pre-game chicken and fish dinner sponsored by the Adult Booster Club and the senior class.

The game was followed by a dance in the gym featuring the group Sky-light. The dance and other activities were sponsored by the Student Council.

At midnight Friday, the week of fun and crazy activities was over, all the lights of the football field shut off, and the music stopped and all the instruments packed away. Now that all the class competition had been completed and all the scores tallied up, the overall results of Homecoming were as follows: first place, a tie between the seniors and the juniors; third place, sophomores; and fourth place, freshmen.

The entire week was greatly enjoyed by the students and faculty who were "full of it!"

Junior Chris Cooke, along with Sophomores Rodney Bertram and Tim Wade, and Freshman Brian Cooke enjoy the dinner sponsored by the Adult Booster Club and the senior class.

Senior Karen Mays stands tall in her moment of glory after competing in the toilet paper wrap. The senior team of Sonya Hamble and Karen Mays won this event.

Your majesty. Taking the traditional ride around the track at halftime are Senior Queen and King, Gina Poore and Frank Leonard.

Juniors Kathy Detrude and Lori Johnson cheer on the football team as Senior Brian Whitney rips his way through the spirit hoop.

Lunch time. Senior Maria Saler assists fellow Senior Frank Leonard in his afternoon feeding during game day. The freshmen, though, were able to pull out a victory.

Trendy Times

Wild "duck" shoes, flashy metallics, and bizarre puzzles set the scene for one of the more unusual years our school has experienced in fads and fashions.

The year began with students entering the school armed with colorful puzzles, and dressing in crazy cowboy boots, not to mention the old-fashioned look of knickers, and the brilliance of metallic accents.

Fashions remained fairly constant for the guys. The clean, preppy look was in and the only major addition to their wardrobe was penny loafers.

The girls' fashions took on bigger changes. Some of the big things were leg-warmers, cowboy boots, "duck" shoes and headbands.

Some students showed up with portable stereos. These were really popular in study hall and for a little entertainment in lunch.

Fads and fashions are changing constantly, and we did our best to stay in style.

Sitting duck. Senior Sally Heidenreich shows her daily style. So called "duck" shoes were one of the more popular assets to the wardrobe.

Keeping the beat. Junior Zane Trueblood jams to the music during passing period. The new "walkman" stereos brought pleasure to the ears of many students.

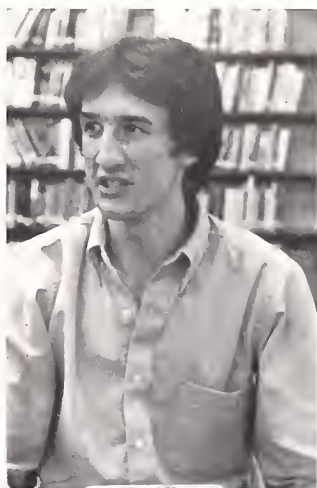

Smiling in style. Freshman Mindy Bothwell and Junior David Baily shows their style. Mindy, clad in leg warmers and "duck" shoes, got several styles in one outfit.

Deep thought. Senior Rene Hooper daydreams with the aid of her metallic headband. These headbands added a new flare to hairstyles.

Ridem' cowgirl. Sophomore Shelley Wixted displays the rugged look of cowboy boots. Cowboy boots were necessary items for both boys and girls.

This is not a girl's shirt! Senior Brian Hart defended his updated style. The oxford style shirts were popular for both boys and girls.

1982 in Review

Tragedy, strategy, and victory marked the year of 1982.

The year was an eventful one in the world of politics. Anwar Sadat was brutally assassinated while watching a military parade. Martial law was imposed on the people of Poland, and in El Salvador people protested American involvement. A place where no one expected international problems, the Falkland Islands, saw an attack by Argentine forces which infuriated the British and created one more hot spot in the world.

Locally, the primary race in the new sixth district was a close one. No one knew who would win until the final tally, when Dan Burton emerged the victor from a field of five candidates.

In the world of entertainment, Oscar winners "Chariots of Fire," "On Golden Pond," and the box office hit, "Raiders of the Lost Ark" provided a return to cinema credibility.

In sports, the most exciting Wimbledon contest ever occurred between Bjorn Bjorg and John McEnroe, who came out victorious. Indianapolis enjoyed national exposure by playing host to the Ice Skating Nationals in January. And in May, the first "500" fatality in nine years was recorded when Gordon Smiley went head-on into the third turn wall.

Last, but not least, the Space Shuttle Columbia brought a great patriotic feeling back to the United States with all the grandeur and color of its take-off and landing.

The events of the year 1982 brought an awareness of the world's happenings to the nation, state, community, and school.

As cold as ice. A pair of the figure skaters at the Ice Nationals perform their routine.

Promoting leadership, Indianapolis Mayor William Hudnut speaks to all the leaders of the many organizations in the school on Student Leadership Day.

Talking politics. Dan Burton speaks to fifth period government class.

Fiery crash. Race car driver Gordon Smiley lost his life during the "500" qualifications.

"Deathly" Drama Premieres

"Death Takes a Holiday", the fall play, performed December 11 and 12, was a new experience for the Drama Club. For the first time, a drama was performed instead of a comedy.

The play, which has death appearing in human form, had 13 cast members and a production staff composed of 11 faculty members and students.

Although the cast was an important part of the play, it could not have been complete without the help of the production staff, which also worked hard to make the play a success.

Director Bill Strauss, Assistant Barbara Adams, and Student Director Jeff Higgins helped develop the play into a production.

Staff members who are Thespians were Maria Bishop, house manager; Mike and Suzy Blayney, lights; Traci Leiter, make-up; Dawn Dobbs, set; Courtney Berger, props; Gina Poore, costumes; and Jeff Higgins.

Members of the cast who are Thespians were Kim Louthan, Cora; Christa Hart, Alda; Daphne Lloyd, Dutchess Stephanie; Melody Clafflin, Princess of San Luca; Tim Wiseman, Baron Cesare; Traci Leiter, Rhoda Fenton; Steve Tam, Eric Fenton; Lisa Kupferschmid, Grazia; Doug Beebe, His Serene Highness, Prince Sirke, of Vitalba Alexandir; and Brian Hart, Major Whitehead.

Other cast members were Randy Bailey, Fedele; Richard Walton, Duke Lambert; and Mark Clear, Corrado.

One of the greatest aspects of the play was the role played by Senior Doug Beebe. He played "Death" in human form. His character was brought to life by the fine use of costume and make-up.

Well, cheerio . . . Corrado (Junior Mark Clear) calms his nerves after meeting the Shadow.

"Welcome, your Serene Highness . . ." Dutchess Stephanie (Junior Daphne Lloyd) charmingly receives Prince Sirki (Senior Doug Beebe) as a guest to the Villa Happiness.

"I must think shrewdly!" Prince Sirki (Senior Doug Beebe) plans his strategy to sway Grazia to go with him into death.

"Who is this man?!" The Princess of San Luca (Senior Melody Clafflin) is worried about her daughter being attracted to Prince Sirki.

Everyone takes part ... The Director's sister and co-teacher, Miss Cindy Strauss, helps Junior Randy Bailey apply his make-up.

"In my day ..." reminisces Baron Cesarea (Sophomore Tim Wiseman) about his youth.

Practice makes perfect. Sophomores Stacey Jennings and Suzy Blayney, and Freshman Lori Findlay sing lyrics with ease at an after school practice.

It's a little lumpy but it rings. Horace Vander-gelder (Senior Jim Leagre) chooses between his love, Dolly, and his cash register.

Strike up the band. Mr. Terry Thomas led the orchestra through both performances.

Yonkers Goes Bonkers !

"Hello Dolly," the spring musical, performed April 23 and 24, was superbly presented. The musical version, based on the book, "The Matchmaker," by Thornton Wilder, was sponsored by the Drama Club and directed by Mr. William Strauss. Mr. Strauss was assisted by Mr. Terry Thomas, who also directed the pit orchestra. The orchestra consisted of several members of the high school band.

The musical takes place in the small suburban town of Yonkers, New York. In Yonkers, Mrs. Dolly Levi (Junior Daphne Lloyd) tries her matchmaking skills on several unsuspecting couples, but soon realizes that she, too, is in love. Within this series of romantic actions and reactions, two store clerks have taken an unauthorized vacation in the same town in which their boss, Horace Vandegelder (Senior Jim Leagre) is staying. These two store clerks are Cornelius Hackle and Barnaby Tucker (Senior Doug Beebe and Sophomore Tim Wiseman). Between these two, several situations turn out "bonkers".

Along with Daphne, Doug, Jim, and Tim, other supporting roles were played by Sophomore Suzy Blayney (Irene Malloy) and Sophomore Stacey Jennings (Minnie Fay).

Mr. Strauss and Mr. Thomas were assisted by Jeff Higgins, Michelle Strahle, Guy Ramsey, Maria Bishop, and Sally Schwartz. These students were in charge of or helped with lights, props, and costumes. Others were Ruth Shepherd, sets; Traci Leiter, make-up; Tim Wiseman, publicity; and Dawn Dobbs, house manager. The programs and posters were designed by Freshman Lana Hollinger.

The tickets for the show were $2.75, and all proceeds went to pay for this year's musical and for those in the future.

Laughing hysterically. Sophomores Beth Shiel and Brenda Murray, and Seniors Tom Herschfeld and L.H. Bond enjoy not only the band's entertainment, but also the entertainment at their own table.

Boogie Down. Sophomore Dan Russell and Junior Robin Lewellan enjoy the variety of music from The Five Easy Pieces. They played music for both slow and fast dancing.

Friendly conversation. Senior Michelle Pritchard and Sophomore Perry Baldwin discuss the evening's plans. Several underclassmen accompanied juniors and seniors at the prom.

Saving the memories. Junior Dale Chapman and Sophomore Carolyn O'Day save a souvenir balloon from the centerpiece on their table. The junior class was in charge of decorating for the prom.

An evening of "The Best of Times" at the junior-senior prom included lots of dancing, but it also included other activities such as dining, socializing, and the announcing of the king and queen.

The prom, held on April 17 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, Indianapolis, was a night that proved to be memorable. The couples at the prom danced to the music of The Five Easy Pieces. The band started playing after the meal had been served by an attentive group of the Hyatt's best waitresses.

After the band had played several popular tunes, the time arrived to announce the king and queen. Junior class president Todd Beaman did the honors. The king was announced first. With a great deal of anticipation from the awaiting audience, Todd announced Senior Jim Princell as king. He then announced Senior Therese Murphy as queen. Jim and Therese led the spotlight dance.

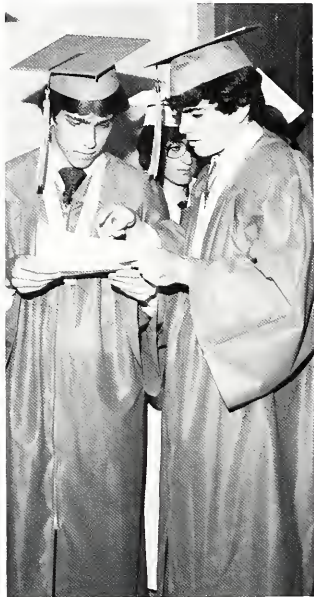

The theme of the prom was "The Best of Times." Even though they were dressed in formal wear, the students and faculty present enjoyed the activities and had a great time.

Precious moments. Senior Mike Walker and his date, Sherry Martel, danced to the soft, slow-dancing music provided by the band throughout the evening.

"In Formal" Fun

Hurray, it's finally over! The senior class showed their relief by throwing their caps after changing their tassels.

See, look at this. Senior Frank Leonard explains his speech to fellow classmate Jim Leagre. Frank presented his speech during graduation commencement.

Thank you. As Senior Dana Duke receives her diploma, she thanks Superintendent Myron Clark.

Their Last Walk Together

"There are no problems we cannot solve together, and very few we can solve by ourselves." This statement was chosen as the motto for the 1982 graduating class.

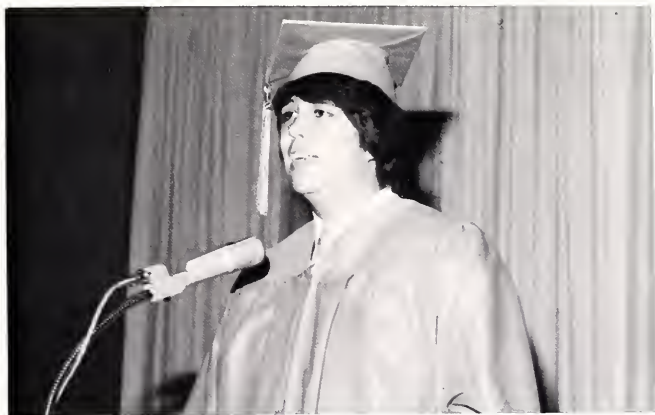

The graduating class had 134 graduates who received their diplomas at 1:30 p.m., May 23 in the high school gym.

Rev. Francis Allen was the guest speaker. Seniors Frank Leonard and Tom Rodriguez spoke for the class. All three spoke during commencement.

Also, during the ceremony a special choir sang "Greatest Love of All," "Out There On My Own," and "I've Got a Name." Only seniors who wanted to sing at graduation composed this choir.

Following the singing each graduate received his diploma and each female graduate also received the class flower, a red rose.

After receiving their diplomas the graduates changed their tassels and made their last walk together as the class of 1982.

"...and this is how it goes." Senior Tom Rodriguez gives his speech during graduation exercises.

"I've Got a Name." The choir of seniors sang three songs during the ceremony.

Spirited Athletes

Come on Royals, we can do it! We are number one! The tune of these familiar sayings was heard from thirteen of the most enthusiastic girls in the school — the cheerleaders.

Even though most people don't consider them athletes, they are. Their training began early in the summer when they attended the National Cheerleaders Association camp at Vincennes University. During that week at camp, the varsity and reserve cheerleaders earned the highest spirit award. They also received a spirit stick every night.

Throughout football season the cheerleaders sold oversized spirit hands to raise money for new skirts. This fund raising event brought a sense of school spirit to everyone.

Also during both football and basketball seasons, the cheerleaders decorated boxes and sacks to give to the players. These sacks and boxes were filled with candy and cookies to help keep the team spirit up.

The cheerleaders job was not just during football and basketball season, but during the entire school year. Even though their job seemed endless, the returning cheerleaders are looking forward to another year.

Another First

Concentrating on the finish line and not on the aching muscles seems to be the key for the successful cross-country runner. The entire cross-country team obviously concentrated on its goals from looking at their performance.

The Royal runners broke both team records and individual records. They broke their regular season record by finishing 10-2. This marked the best season record in Southeastern history.

Sophomore John Saler pushes to stay out in front. He had a very strong seventh place finish in the county to help the Royals to a third place finish overall.

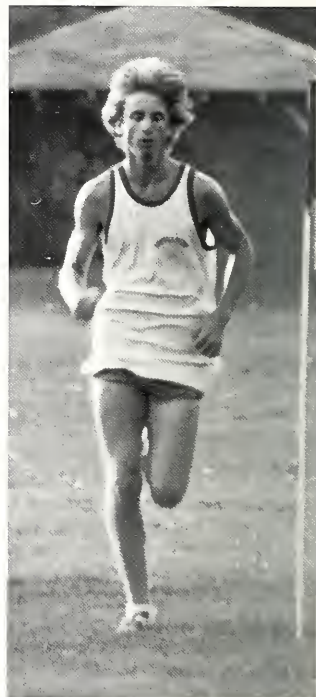

Sprinting toward the finish line, Senior Frank Leonard and Tod Schmollinger are followed by three Noblesville competitors.

In the conference competition the team had an outstanding finish. Sophomore John Saler led the team with an individual championship which assisted the team in achieving a third place finish.

The team went on to the sectionals. Co-captains Junior Rich Miller and Sophomore John Saler led the team on to the regionals with a strong sectional finish of third place.

The team advanced to the regionals. "Being the first time in the regionals for the team we were a little nervous," said Junior Mike Perkins. The team finished fourteenth in the regionals.

Having a young team with only a few seniors, the underclassmen will be looking forward to breaking even more records in the future.

Spikingly Attractive

A bump, a set, and then a spike. No, this isn't a bump on a log, a chess set or a dog's name. It's the way the volleyball team plays.

In comparison to the teams in the past, the volleyball team was outstanding this year. With a record of eight wins and seven losses, they were determined to win.

Coach Cindy Strauss felt that the most exciting moment for her, and probably for the girls, was when they defeated Brebuck, a state ranked team. According to Senior Lisa Mills the game with Clinton Prairie brought the team closer together. She said, "We were so intense! It was the first time we acted as a team."

During the Carmel sectional the Royals were pitted against a tough Noblesville team. Even though it was considered a long shot, the girls beat the strong Noblesville team. The Millers had beaten the volleyball team during the regular season, and the defeat was a great revenge. The next game against the Carmel Greyhounds ended in defeat for the Royals, with the score of 15-6,15-7.

Certain members of the team received special honors during the fall sports banquet. The most valuable player was Junior Chris Havely. She was also the only player elected to the conference team. The player voted most improved was Freshman Tina Beaver, and best mental attitude was awarded to Sophomore Julie Keefer.

With confidence, dedication and hard work, the girls did their best in sectionals and ended with a winning attitude.

Naturally Talented

A tree, a cat, and a cow had to be sacrificed in order to have a successful tennis team. The wooden racquet, cat gut strings, and the leather hand grip, along with the talents of 15 young men, produced a sectional championship.

Led by the play of three seniors, four juniors, one sophomore, and seven freshmen, the Royals' tennis team, with a record of nine wins and three losses, advanced farther than any other team in the history of the school. The team, coached by Mr. Jim Campbell, advanced through the sectional competition by the scores of 5-0 over New Palestine, 4-1 over Tri-High, and 3-2 over Greenfield Central.

Junior Captain Chris Cooke, said, "We had most of our varsity players from last year returning, and our freshmen really came through to help make our season successful." Two of those freshmen, who played number-one doubles for the varsity squad, were Guy Ramsey and David Poore. They were followed by the senior doubles team of Tom Hirschfeld and Mike Nash. The singles portion of the team was led by Juniors Tim Richards and Chris Cooke. They were followed by Freshman Brian Cooke.

The first team ever to advance to the regionals arrived at Southport High School on October 7, ready to compete with Park Tudor. Even though they were defeated, 0-5, the Royals gave stiff competition to the Panthers, who were ranked third in the state.

Mr. Campbell, who is coaching at the high school for the first time, helped motivate the boys by enforcing hours of hard practice, and deep concentration on play. In the end, it paid off.

Perfect form. Junior Tim Richards concentrates on his shot during the sectionals. The Royals won the sectionals for the first time.

The Essential Product

What was the essential product? Gaining experience; that was the essential product. Players gained experience that will be needed for varsity competition.

Although the reserve team had a short season, it still had top point leaders. The defensive point leader was Sophomore Dan Russell. In passing and rushing, Sophomore Scott Casey led the team. The top receiver was Junior Steve Forster. According to Coach Brian Warne, the reason for a reserve team is to give the players experience, which was successfully accomplished.

Gaining experience was also a factor for the freshmen team. The freshmen team, like the reserve team, had a low win-loss record of 1-7. But Coach Paul Arnold remarked, "As a win-loss record I was disappointed, but as for the players gaining experience, I was satisfied." Point leaders for the freshmen were Ted Campbell in passing, Kurt Haines in receiving, Brian Ruggles in rushing and Toby Whelchel in defensive points.

The win-loss records were not high, but overall the players got experience which they will need for varsity football. Determination to become better players made their season.

On Their Way

"... has just set a new school record," blares over the speakers. The crowd cheers once again for another record breaking performance set by a football player.

Because of all the records broken this season, many could say the Royals "broke through" to become eligible for playoff competition. Season leaders defensively were L.H. Bond, David Bumgarner, and Chris Lowery. Offensive point leaders were Doug Stis, Jack Powell, and Kevin DeTrude. Both individual and team records were demolished. Records were broken within the school, state, and even nation wide.

The team began their regular season schedule by soundly eliminating Lebanon, Hamilton Heights, and Tri-Central. The real competition came with county and conference rival Sheridan. They demolished the Black Hawks hopes of repeating their Range-Line Conference title by beating them 33-0. Coach Dave Enright felt, "This was one of the most important games because they always play us tough."

A 10-0 record, a first place ranking, and a Range-Line Conference Championship would carry the team to a perfect 14 season and their ultimate goal — Class A State Football Champions.

Evading another tackler. Junior Kevin DeTrude eyes the endzone in the game against Zionsville. Moves like this one helped Kevin in gaining a thousand-plus yards.

Protecting the ball. Junior Jack Powell receives a pass from Ron Moyer. Jack played an important role in the Royals' success by doubling as receiver and defensive back.

...Finally

We had made the trip into the playoffs two times before, but each time we were halted by the eventual champion. After setting the goal of a perfect 14-0 season, the Royals exploded through the regular season and ignited into the playoffs. It took a game-saving catch, an heroic blocked kick, and a total team effort for the ultimate goal to be reached. On November 20th at 9:47 their trip was completed and their goal achieved. Finally, Hamilton Southeastern could call itself the true champion — Class A State Football Champions.

The Royals began their campaign for state champs by soundly defeating Tri-High by the score of 42-27.

The regional game required all their strength and skill in order to defeat rival Sheridan. The Blackhawks stunned the Royals in the second half by tying the score in the final quarter. The Royals never gave up as was evident in a game-winning catch that eventually earned the team the regional title.

The 48-8 slaughtering of the North Posey Vikings led the semi-state championship team into the state finals.

On a freezing cold evening the Royals faced the Woodlan Warriors. After a scoreless first half, the Royals burst out of the locker room and gained a seven point lead. On the Warriors next possession they scored, but the extra point attempt failed because of the gallant effort from a Royal player. With over a minute remaining in the contest, the Warriors were lined up for a three-point field goal. The kick was up and so was the crowd. From the stands it appeared that their kick was good but with the excitement of the Royal players and the signal of the referee, the celebration began.

Finally after determination and hard work, the Royals could now call themselves Class A State Champions.

Letting it fly. Senior quarterback Ron Moyer gets his pass off with time to spare. The offensive line contributed to the success of the Royals' passing game.

Within grasp. After one of his patented moves, Senior Doug Siis breaks open to receive the ball from quarterback Ron Moyer. This was in the state final game against Woodlan.

Splash to the Finish

On your mark, get set, go! And go they did. Both the boys' and girls' swim teams had good seasons. "We had a good season; I feel we improved from last year," said Miss Cindy Strauss.

The boys' team had a winning season in dual meets. They also placed third in the conference match at Westfield and in the Royal Relays. In the county meet at Noblesville the team placed fourth. Along with team records, there were individual records broken, too. Matt Nobel broke the record in diving. Two 100 meter records were broken, first in the breast stroke by Greg Dickison and second the butterfly stroke by Dave Martin. Also the team of Dave Martin, Jim Jones, Kevin Mills, and Scott Lloyd broke the free style relay record.

Betsy Jones said, "I feel that we had a good season considering that we had a small team." Despite a losing season, some individuals broke previous school records. Betsy Jones broke the 100 free style record. Debbie Cain broke both the 500 free style and the 200 free style records. The relay team consists of Betsy Jones, Lori Hersberger, Jill Ewers, and Kirstin Fegrenkamp.

The team awards including best attitude, most improved, and most valuable were presented by the coaches. The boys' and girls' best attitude was awarded to Jim Jones and Debbie Cain, most improved to Tim Macy and Lazette Rector, and most valuable to Scott Lloyd and Betsy Jones.

Team captains were Scott Lloyd and Jim Jones for the boys' team and Lori Hersberger and Debbie Cain for the girls' team. The coaches were Miss Cindy Strauss for the boys' and Mr. Brad McClarnon for the girls' team.

With individual achievements and the teams combined efforts the boys' and girls' swim teams worked together to break many records and complete their seasons.

Finishing Strong

Slow beginnings bring a great ending.

The girls basketball teams, reserve and varsity, started their seasons on a slow note, but greatly improved toward the end of their contests.

Led by the play of two seniors, four juniors, and two sophomores, the varsity team finished with a record of seven wins and ten losses. The reserve team, with one sophomore and eight freshmen, offered their best efforts in a six and seven season.

The two coaches who gave the girls valuable pointers on the game were Kurt Stickler and Dave Kitchell. The captain of the varsity team was senior Sally Heidenreich. The varsity team went to sectionals that were held at Westfield High School. They were beaten by Noblesville, the team who then went on to win the sectional.

Both teams were bothered by problems at the beginning of the season but the girls ironed them out and ended the season on a winning note.

The shot is up. It hits the rim. Will it fall in? The crowd rises to their feet. Anticipation fills the air as the ball gradually glides through the net. Unfortunately, many of the times it was the opponent's ball, and not the Royals, that went in.

The reserve team posted a respectable 8-10 record. They were led by sophomore Alan Spencer, who usually controlled the boards for the Royals. The freshman team didn't do quite as well with a 4-14 record. Steve Wright led the frosh defensively with 31 steals and 12 blocked shots. In the rebounding department David Dolin led them as he averaged 4.8 rebounds a game. Having young teams, the coaches are hoping for better things next year.

Defeated Enthusiasm

What can you say? One would like to forget about the disappointing basketball season but to a group of determined athletes it was unforgettable despite the dismal season record.

We began our season on a negative note and ended with an equally disappointing note by being defeated by Noblesville 51-101. Individual accomplishments overshadowed the bleak season's outcome. Rich Miller led scoring while David Bogaert led in the rebounding and field goal percentages.

The factors that led to a winless season cannot be determined. The team may have attributed the lack of crowd support as a reason for their disappointing results. "If there was more interest from the fans I think the players would have had more enthusiasm," stated Senior John Clements.

The discouraging record of 0-22 ended with thoughts of a hopefully more successful season next year.

Shooting for the basket. Senior David Bogaert shows his talent. David led in rebounding and field goals during the season.

True Champions

At the beginning of the wrestling season the Royal matmen shut out Clinton Prairie 60-0 only to suffer their first and only defeat by Greenfield Central early the next week.

Following that meet second year coach Brian Warne set the goal for the Royals to win the Rangeline Conference.

The Royal Wrestlers went on to win the Park-Tudor and Monrovia Invitationals leaving quite a margin between them and the second place teams.

After defeating Westfield and Eastern Hancock, they came closer to their goal. Even with only two all-conference members, Bill Shoemake and David Bumgarner, the overall team effort was enough to earn the title of Rangeline Conference Champions.

Due to the lack of practices caused by the snow, the team was not fully prepared for the sectionals. However, six members advanced to the Howe Regionals. They were Juniors Mark Merideth, 112 pounds; Chris Cooke, 132 pounds; Tom Jones, 138 pounds; Senior Bill Shoemake, 177 pounds; Sophomore Jesse Alexander, 185 pounds; and Senior Brian Whitney at heavyweight. Tri-captains Merideth, Shoemake and Whitney were chosen to the all-county team. The Royals have ten of the thirteen varsity men returning so next year should prove to be very successful.

Fight to the Finish

Striving for the blue was tough. By virtue of good team strength, the Royals, both the girls and the boys, finished their seasons with fine records. In addition to the good records, both teams set several school, conference, and individual records.

The teams gained their success under the strict guidance of coaches Kris Airgood for the boys, and Cindy Strauss and Sandy Odum for the girls.

The girls had 28 team members, while the boys entered their meets with 26 competitors.

Reputable Record

The pitch is delivered and everyone awaits the outcome. As the batter connects solidly, the runners are advancing, the fielders are getting in position, and then finally the play is made.

Scenes such as this were seen often as the Royals displayed their winning efforts. According to Coach Ken Seitz, the Royals had one of the best years ever. This was proven in the new school record win-loss record of 24-5.

In conference play, the Royals finished a respectable second place behind Clinton Prairie.

In sectional competition, the Royals finished one game short of a championship. By eliminating Westfield by the score of 3-0 and Noblesville 1-0, the Royals advanced to the championship. Regretfully they were defeated 0-2.

Following through. Senior pitcher Doug Stis aims for the mitt in hopes of striking out another opponent.

OUT IN FRONT

Pleasant Change

Monthly, weekly, daily, clubs played an important role in school participation. Students devoted both time and effort in pursuing their own interests.

The students' interests persuaded them to join the clubs of their choice — from foreign languages to physical arts. Club members completed projects such as picking up trash, organizing activities and clothing children. Some organizations also helped give the school notoriety by placing in contests, while others just tried to make school life more enjoyable.

Together the clubs' activities and accomplishments helped the students, as well as the school, step OUT IN FRONT.

During the year the members were entertained by several guest speakers from universities, and corporations such as Eli Lilly. These speakers were highly informative for the students.

'They've Got the Beat'

Marching to a different tune, The Royal Command and Guard made many changes and improvements.

The Royal Command and Guard under the direction of Terry Thomas and Patty Reed, accomplished many things this year. The Command and Guard had a membership of 105 students.

The Royal Command entered several marching contests during the year. They received a first place rating in the marching band contest held at Busch Stadium. They received a second place at the district marching contest, and marched at all the regional, semi-state, and state football championship games. The Command also received seven first places at the state solo and ensemble contest.

The Command and Guard participated in several activities together. These activities included marching in the Noblesville Christmas and Loyalty Day parades, and they also opened the Fishers' Soccer League season.

The Concert Band was also involved in a concert, and the jazz ensemble went to State contest and also to the Indiana State University Jazz Festival. Miss Reed and Mr. Thomas were assisted by drum major, Senior Brian Sears; and Guard captain, Junior Traci Leiter; and co-captains, Junior Cindy Atkins, and Sophomore Jill Bloomhorst.

The Royal Command and Guard represented the school in an excellent way.

Keeping In Harmony

Who sang their way into the hearts of all Hamilton County? Why the Choir and Swing Choir of Hamilton Southeastern, of course. They held audiences spellbound at churches, banquets and even here at school.

A solo singing and dancing audition was performed by all Swing Choir members. Auditions were also required to be accepted into the Choirs. This allowed Miss Patty Reed a chance to see who was most qualified and in what areas they excelled.

As individuals they attended contests, but the heavy snow halted the competition as a group. Senior Tom Rodriguez went to the state contest and received a first place rating. Other winners at the district contests were Kim Linkous, Dani Borum, Mike Blayney, Tom Rodriguez, Ray Rodriguez, Tim Wiseman, and Stacy Jennings.

"Overall they worked very well together," said Miss Reed, "and were enthusiastic in concert. I'm looking forward to the coming years."

All together now. With strained vocal cords and harmony, the members of Swing Choir and Choir sang to the audience during a convocation.

This song's for you. Senior Doug Beebe entertained the school at the Christmas convocation with his solo performance.

Masters of the Arts

The Drama Club sponsors two productions a year; one musical and one drama. To prepare for each of these productions a lot of hard work is put in by a lot of people. There are committees assigned to different people such as: props, costumes, lighting, publicity, painting and building sets.

"The good thing about Drama Club is that even though many of the members can't actually be in the show, they still participate and, in some way, forward the production of the show," noted Senior Brian Whitney.

Besides having organized productions they also got together and went to see "Cinderella" at Civic Theatre.

Just as the Thespian Club is the honor society of drama, Tri-M is the honor society of music.

Modern Music Masters make up the three M's in Tri-M. Several characteristics of Tri-M include service, leadership, scholarship, and music ability. Members met once a month and often attended the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. They also used their talent by going Christmas caroling. President was Brian Sears; Vice-President, Debbie Cain; Secretary, Sally Schwartz; Treasurer, Dean Coy; and Historian, Doug Beebe.

The French Connection

Foreign intrigue and excitement described the French Club's planned activities which were fun for all the members.

The year began with a pitch-in dinner. The dinner included all French dishes and was held at the home of senior member Jim Leagre.

The next activity was a trip to King's Island. The trip included all three foreign language clubs.

After the trip to King's Island, the club held a hayride at Senior Lossie Bell's house. The hayride was also a Halloween party and all those present were required to wear costumes.

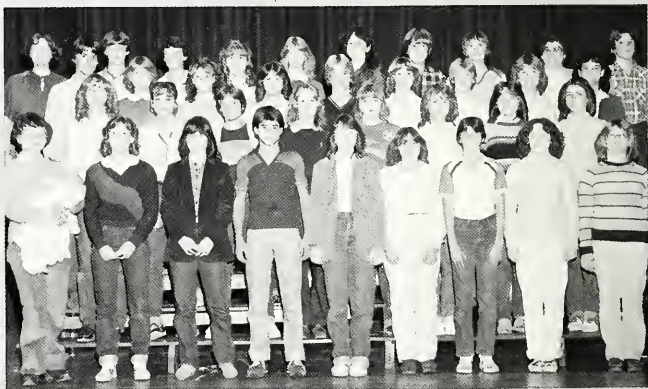

Then the foreign language club Christmas party was held with the German Club, and the Spanish Club. After a meal originating from three different countries, the clubs sang Christmas carols and held competition in different games.

For the club's next activity, students paid $17.00 each to dine at La Tour. The students were required to dress up, but they still enjoyed delicious French cuisine.

The French Club had a larger membership than any other club in the school.

Saying It Differently

"Fussball." No, that's not when you fuss over a ball, but the German word for soccer. The German Club members participated in this and other activities.

During the fall they saw "Der Talsmann" at North Central High School, had a Halloween Party at Matt Burke's house, and also went to see the movie "Night Crossing." German Club participated in ice skating, secret pals, a contest about German culture, and dinner at a German restaurant during the winter and spring.

Members of the German classes were given a chance to have entered the German Honorary, if the requirements were met. The student must have received three consecutive semesters of A's, and been at least a second year, second semester student in German classes.

While activities were many, Miss Colleen Davis had this to say, "Next year I would like to see us working closer together, possibly with a larger German club, on more German-based activities, like possibly a Fashings party or an Oktoberfest. But we had fun this year with the activities planned."

Spicy Hot

Spanish classes are growing, and, along with them the Spanish club. They started off the year with a pitch-in dinner at Sally Heidenreich's house, which gave the new members a chance to meet and get to know older ones. During October and November they held a movie party and went to King's Island. In December they teamed with other foreign language clubs and held the annual Christmas party. Later in the year they went out to dinner at the Spanish restaurant, El Torito.

Two of the highlights of the year were the Spanish breakfast of "churros y chocolate" prepared by the fourth year Spanish students; and in April the initiation of two new members, Joan Dickey and Stephanie Stewart, into Spanish Honorary.

"The Spanish Honorary is set up through The American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese," commented Mrs. Katherine Sherman. "It is set up to recognize students who excel in Spanish."

The club had a spicy hot fun-filled year, and welcomes all new members in hopes of going to Mexico next year.

Making it official. Senior Gina Poore signs the certificates for new members of the Spanish Honorary. Mrs. Sherman noted a student must have a B+ average or better to be elected.

Creativity Comes Out

Two types of arts prevailed, one dealing with the industrial aspects, and the other with the more creative aspects.

The Industrial Arts Club members have done repairs both for the school and the community. They fixed tables and chairs in the library and also aided in building the bleachers for the tractor pulls for 4-H.

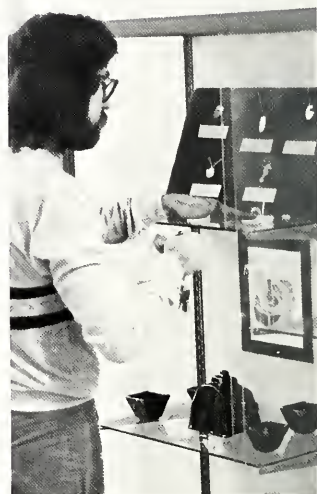

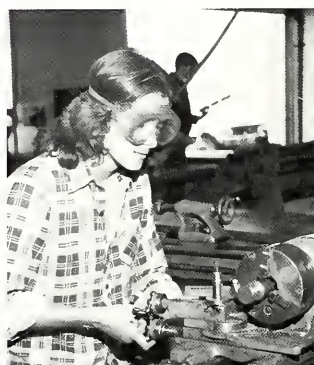

To belong to the club, you must have at least taken one industrial arts class. "Industrial Arts has been a very beneficial club that has met the repair needs of the schools and communities," said Mr. Stone, "and we'll continue to grow in our capacity to provide our services in order to build and repair for those who are in need in the community and schools."

The creative aspects of art were brought out in Art Club.

They held a pitch-in dinner at Mr. Gabbert's house, and also printed T-shirts for cross country and seniors shirts for the powder puff game. An Art Display was also held to highlight the outstanding work done by the students. Art Club also recognized Senior Katrinka Brown with a plaque given to her as being the outstanding senior.

Both Mr. Stone and Mr. Gabbert were enthusiastic about the coming years. Mr. Gabbert had this to say, "I thought this year went real smooth; there is a lot of potential here at school, and I look forward to an even better year next year."

Putting it together. Mr. Gabbert, Art Club sponsor, puts the final touches on the art display which highlighted student's work.

Important Informants

Informing the public about events, whether current, past, or present, was indeed an important job. Together Radio Club and Library Club handled this responsibility at the high school.

Radio Club's main activity was the daily announcements. This enabled the teachers and sponsors to announce meetings, deadlines, or other important news. Radio Club was open to any student interested in amateur radio. "We could use some fresh blood," said Mr. Strauss, "we've lost a lot of seniors the past two years."

Members of the Library Club, either currently or in the past, worked in the library, and they sponsored events that all students could attend. They showed the movies, "Summer of My German Solder," "Movie Star's Daughter," "May Magic," and "Tennis Racket." "We had a great time with the movies this year," said Mrs. Scheuring, "and hope to continue them next year."

Library Club also sold books year round. Foreign language dictionaries and almanacs were some of the choices offered. They, like the announcements from Radio Club, aided the students in their academics and school activities.

Time Well Spent

Faith Club and Candy Stripers contained students devoted to helping their communities. The students used their free time to aid people at hospitals and who have low incomes.

Faith Club, in an effort to learn about God, held devotions. Devotions consisted of someone reading a scripture, saying a prayer, and then telling the group what it meant to them. Faith Club also sponsored their annual Clothe-A-Child, just before Christmas vacation. With the money donated by faculty and students, they obtained enough to clothe two children from Durbin and one student from the high school.

They went to the Scream in the Dark, at the Children's Museum, and afterwards went to Penny Stanley's house for a pizza party. They also held a picnic in the spring. "Because we were such a small group," said Senior Ruth Shepherd, "we didn't do as many activities as we would like, but we still had a lot of fun."

Candy Stripers, like Faith Club,

dedicated themselves to helping their communities. The girls took classes after school to prepare them for their hospital jobs in the evening. They worked at Riverview Hospital in Noblesville and held various duties. They fed the patients, answered call lights, helped make the beds, and tried to fill the patients requests. At night they would take patients' temperature, pulse, and respiration.

Both Faith Club and Candy Striper members expressed feelings that their time was well spent on tasks which they performed.

Talking it over. Senior Penny Stanley and Mrs. Wiseman listen to suggestions Freshman Angie Sharp at a Faith Club meeting.

Preparing for the Future

FFA and OEA helped prepare students for the professional world ahead of them.

FFA, Future Farmers of America, had a year that consisted of many activities and contests. They won the County Dairy Judging and the Area Livestock Judging contests. The group placed fourth at the Area Livestock Judging contest and fourth at the state Duroc Judging contest. Both Jerry Hanna and Mark Merideth won a Hoosier Farmer's Degree.

In addition to those contests, FFA also attended the County Soil Judging, the Freshman Frankfort Judging, and the County Crops Judging contests. They went to the Purdue Invitational, held a Parent/Members Awards Banquet, and sent Chris Lowe, Rusty Burk, and Jerry Hanna to Kansas City. Rusty Burk also entered the State Fair Heifer chase.

"The students won more awards this year than ever as a group," said Mr. Younts, "and there were more individual awards than ever, too. A lot of the awards were won by underclassmen so the coming years should be just as successful."

OEA, Office Education Association, also took an interest in educating the students in the business world.

OEA members went to Indiana Bell on a field trip and then to the City Market for lunch. Later they had various speakers on Career Day and entertained other speakers from Indiana Business College and Professional Careers Institute. At the beginning of the year they sold items to raise money.

"I felt like the members were not as involved as they should have been, so our activities were few and far between," said Lisa Mills. Mrs. Roeder added, "I think that OEA has not been very active. Hopefully next year the officers will be more enthusiastic."

OEA and FFA alike tried to establish basic guidelines that will help the members for their life and careers after school.

'Literally' Athletic

Athletic activities keep students involved.

The Varsity club, sponsored by Mr. Ken Seitz, athletic director, had a membership of 48 letterwinners. The club was established for athletes who have won at least one varsity letter in any sport. The club members are responsible for upholding the high standards of sportsmanship of our school.

The FCA, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, was sponsored by Mr. Brian Warne. Several members of the FCA were also members of the Varsity Club. FCA is an international organization, and our chapter has an active membership of 45 students. These members were involved in a weekend national conference for FCA held in Marshall, Indiana. The FCA also went to an Indiana Pacer basketball game. At the game, one of the Pacers, Kent Benson, talked to the members who went to the game. Mr. Warne was assisted by the officers: Junior Joe Linville, president; Junior Lori Johnson, vice-president; Junior Kathy DeTrude, secretary; and Senior Brian Southern, treasurer. The members of both these organizations added more meaning to all athletics at school.

Practice makes perfect. Juniors Julie McKeown and Kelley Maren grab their books on the way to practice. Julie and Kelley are both members of the Varsity Club.

Involved With Enthusiasm

Who wears signs on backs, puts dots on clocks, and sponsors canteens, Homecoming, Spirit Week, and even the Slush Bash? It's the Student Council.

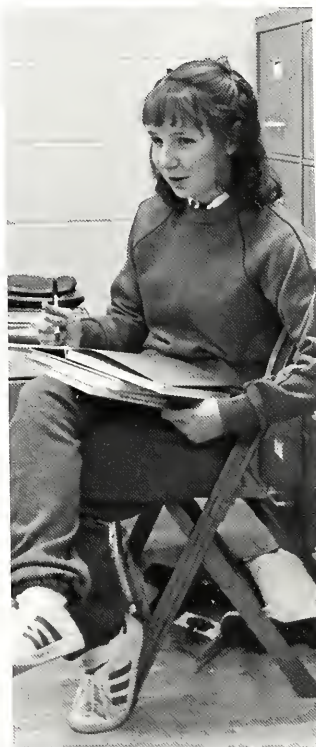

With an incredible turnover of members, new officers, and with the entire year ahead of them, Student Council representatives started planning several activities during the summer.

The main function handled by the Student Council is Homecoming. During this time of year the council is very busy arranging all the activities associated with Homecoming. Such activities include Spirit Week, nominating and selecting Homecoming king, queen, and their court. One successful addition to Homecoming this year was Powder Puff football competition.

The Student Council is sponsored by Mr. William Strauss. He agreed that one of the popular activities sponsored by the council has been the canteens. The council plans to have more canteens in the future. He said, "Our main goal this year is to get students involved and promote student activities in a fun way."

No, I didn't ask to wear this, it was forced on me by the president. Lori Johnson faithfully executes her job as a junior representative for the Student Council.

Not an everyday thing. Sophomore Stacy Jennings demonstrates her school spirit by participating during dress-up days. Sweatsuit day, by far, was one of the more popular dress-up days, because of the comfort.

Deep in thought. Seniors Lynn Russell and Maria Saler assisted the senior class during the decoration of Fishers for football playoffs. The council generated enthusiasm to support our championship team.

Redecorating? Hardly. Senior Sally Heidenreich places the final touches on the Student Council's advertising campaign. This method was very rewarding for the council.

Brain Power

Students who excelled in scholarship, service, leadership, and character received acknowledgment in National Honor Society. "The main criteria for membership is scholastic achievement," said Mrs. Kathleen Sherman. But service played a role too.

The club members served the school by picking up trash on the football field before the Homecoming game, and as volunteers who tutored students. They also sponsored a candy-apple sale in the fall and a bake-sale in the spring to raise money for the spring induction.

Another club which required skill and a lot of effort was Chess Club.

Chess Club originated here three years ago and has continued to grow since. "If you like to play chess," said

Mr. Brad McClarnon, "it's a fun club to join."

Each person played every other person twice in a double-elimination tournament, held here, to determine the players who would attend the sectionals. The top five players went to the sectionals held at Tech High School. They were Brian Whitney (28-1), Matt Burke (25-1), Jeff Higgins (23-4), Kim Louthan (20-7), and John Troup (19-8).

Both organizations require the putting forth of time and effort. High standards must be met, and the winning of games, in Chess Club, or induction into National Honor Society remains a concrete way of acknowledging students who achieve this goal.

Now I've got you. Senior Brian Whitney plans his strategy carefully during an important game at the state contest.

Responsibility. Senior Lisa Murphy, Orb editor, talks things over with Mrs. Clark, while Junior Joe Linville checks a story.

How about this one? Seniors Lisa Murphy and Melissa Mathis try to decide which picture to use in the school paper.

Working hard. Sceptre Editor, Senior Sally Heidenreich, discovers concentration is required, as she writes down some spread ideas.

It Takes Effort

Commitment, a desire to produce top-rate material, and to learn new skills are the qualities found in each member of the production staffs.

With a staff of only five, the Orb staff members found it necessary to turn to the students for help. With the stories submitted by the students and staff, plus hours of extra work putting it together, the school found itself with a good paper.

The Sceptre staff also ended up being short-handed with a total of only 13 members. Even though they did not ask for outside help, the small staff was able to pull together and turn out a yearbook.

There was a new adviser, Mrs. Pam Clark, joining the inexperienced team. She came with some fresh ideas and four years of experience behind her.

Quill and Scroll, the honorary journalism society, required that a member be in the top one-third of his class and produce outstanding work in the journalism class or for either of the school publications.

Although both staffs were short on personnel, talent was not lacking. Rookies soon became experienced veterans; and both staffs, the Orb and the Sceptre, produced quality products.

OUT IN FRONT

Special Quality

At the first appearance the brick building surrounded by cornfields did not really look special. It was a traditional high school with traditional people. At least that was what it looked like at first glance. What was on the inside of this building was what really counted — the people.

To the outsider the school seemed to just blend in with the scenery, but to the insiders there was much more to the brick building — the special qualities of the school the inside. They were the 625 high school students, 45 faculty members, 7 board members, and 38 service personnel — the people. With one look at the outside nothing stands out, but with one look inside this traditional school suddenly steps OUT IN FRONT.

Silhouette. The spotlight sets the scenery as Senior Doug Beebe performs his trumpet solo during the Christmas program.

Seniors Pig Out!

Captain Alexander's Wharf was the setting for the senior breakfast, May 13. The cost was $8.00 per person and most found that it was well worth the price. The excellent menu included omelettes, bagels, doughnuts, fresh fruits, sausage, and many types of juices.

At this time senior class awards were handed out by Jim Leagre, class historian. A few of these were: Most Likely to Become President, L.H. Bond; Most Likely to Succeed and Brown-Nose Award, Frank Leonard; The Dizziest, Karen Mays; The Laziest, Jeff Higgins; The Class Clown, Brian Whitney; The Preppiest, Sally Heidenreich; The Best Actor of the class, Doug Beebe; and Best-Looking went to Ron Moyer and Gina Poore.

The class prophecy was also handed out. It is a prediction of what will be happening at the time of the class reunion.

This year's senior class had a very fun year and has a lot to look forward to in the future.

Senior Class Officers: Kelly Wiseman, president; Kim Louthan, secretary; Jim Leagre, historian; Frank Leonard, vice-president; and Brian Whitney; Sgt. at arms.

Senior Spirit

"Have we gone to London?" The punk styles of across the seas hit the South-eastern hallways before fall break when the seniors showed their class spirit during Senior Dress-Up Day.

The students wore various odds and ends such as glitter, feathers, headbands, and sunglasses. Many outfits, although thrown together the night before, were truly punk. A variety of colors and patterns were characteristics of "the punk" outfit. Some students were barely recognizable with their dyed hair and face make-up.

Some students almost went too far by sticking safety pins through their ears and arms, which they claimed did not affect them.

Some who were non-punkers put together several creative outfits such as the Blue's Brothers and Raggedy Ann.

Senior Dress-Up Day was an overall success and gave the seniors a chance to show their superiority.

The ultimate "punker." Senior Courtney Berger shows off her core of safety pins on Senior Dress-Up Day.

Fun in the Sun

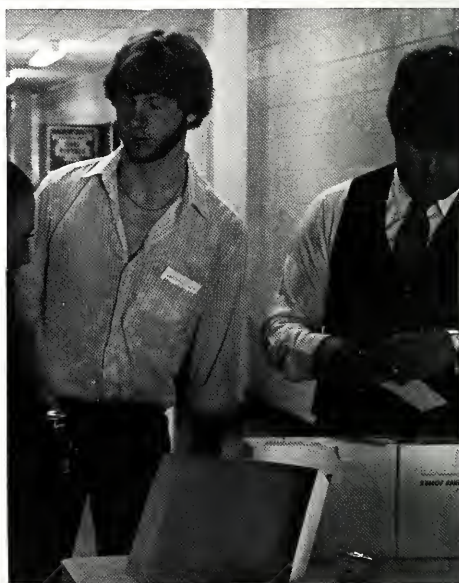

The seniors couldn't have picked a nicer day for their Senior Picnic at Eagle Creek Park May 20.

Out of the class funds, fried chicken was provided and many students brought other pitch-in items. The seniors were able to do as they pleased. Some played football, softball, or frisbee, and others sunbathed. They also had a water fight in which they managed to drench their sponsors, Mrs. Libby Leonard and Mr. Rick Balser.

The craze of the senior year was to go to Florida.

Fort Lauderdale, Daytona Beach, and Disney World were some of the popular places to go. Although parents were a little nervous about their "babies" going on their own, luckily all the students survived the week. Most students spent their time competing for the best tan to show off at school when they returned and meeting other high school seniors who had gone down for their spring break.

Graduation already? Seniors Mike Walker and Jill Sisson receive announcements from Mr. Ken Keltner.

Fighting for Their Rights

Since the seniors did not have a Senior Slave Day last year because of parental complaints, a petition was started for a Senior Boss Day. Through much determination a total of 371 signatures were collected.

Participants had to abide by certain guidelines made up by Student Council. Several of the rules were: no physical abuse of slaves, bosses had to abide by the Student Handbook, and participants could not be late to any class.

Any underclassman who refused to be a slave would not be allowed to be a boss during his senior year. To make it less inviting for the slave to be absent, the slave had to show a written doctor's statement to be excused.

Underclassmen were dressed up in many outrageous costumes ranging from lobsters and dogs to ballerinas and women impersonators.

Few underclassmen refused to be slaves because they knew that their senior year was coming soon.

Animals in school? On Boss Day, yes! Senior Michelle Pritchard makes Sophomore Slave Robin Romine do her dirty work during third lunch.

Junior Syndrome

Present Time: The junior year.

Future Goal: To become a senior.

Past Achievements: Surviving through the freshman year and dragging through the sophomore year.

Anxious about their soon-to-be final year, the juniors looked forward to their role as the leaders of the school.

The juniors with only one more year remaining before graduation, still looked forward to various activities, such as the Junior-Senior Prom that was held at the Hyatt Regency on April 17. The class invested $3,000 on the entire event.

In order to raise funds for the prom, the juniors were involved in the magazine sales toward the beginning of the year. Through their hard work, they set a new school record of selling $7,200 worth of magazines, more than any other previous junior class had sold.

Miss Cindy Strauss and Mr. Terry Thomas sponsored the junior class.

With their past achievements, the junior class will hopefully continue to be a very productive group.

Climb to the Top

"Being a junior is very difficult, because there is more homework and you have to go through the same routine three years in a row; but there is only one more year left until I am a senior," said Jamie Waterman.

Carrie Roberts commented, "I can't wait until I am a senior because it is the last year of English. I also can finally go to prom, if I can find a date."

Brad Warren replied, "As a senior, you can pick on the freshmen more easily, and you can roam the halls without getting into too much trouble."

Jon Haskett said, "Being a junior is very hard because it gets harder to keep up your grades. I can't wait until I am a senior because the seniors can get away with a lot more. At the end of the year, the seniors are trying to pick on any underclassmen. Finally when they leave, the junior class can come in and be the leaders of the school."

All juniors felt the same way about their junior year — they can't wait until their senior year.

Is this going to hurt me? Junior Paula Coleman put makeup on Junior Robby Shaw, so that he could show his spirit on punk day during basketball sectionals.

Activated!

With only one more year left before graduation, the junior class looked forward to their last year before going to college.

Many juniors obtained jobs and tried to work and maintain their grades at the same time. Through their jobs, many students earned enough money to buy a car.

Juniors with the goal of attending college after their senior year made preparations this year.

In October, the juniors took the PSAT Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, to get themselves acquainted with the SAT test they will take their senior year. The SAT test will determine the eligibility for their college entrance.

Overall the juniors "activated" for their senior year.

Soph's Rise To '84

Not having to be considered as the babies of the school anymore, the sophomore class survived being put down all last year, and are now ready to become known as upperclassmen.

Many sophomores liked being called a sophomore better than being called a freshman, but still would rather be a senior.

Ray Bush felt more mature as a sophomore and also thought he had more privileges. He said he was better off being a sophomore than being a freshman because there aren't as many years to go.

Glen Smith said, "As a sophomore I am a bigger and better guy than when I was a freshman. Just think there are only two more years left of high school."

Amy Snow responded, "Being a sophomore is a lot better than being a freshman but nothing will be as great as your senior year when you can do all the picking on underclassmen."

Michele Smith stated, "Finally I will be able to receive my driver's license before the end of my sophomore year."

Many sophomores feel older and more mature but can't wait until they are seniors.

"Sweet 16"

Freshmen thought: Oh no, here comes a senior. He looks so big and mean. Where can I hide?

Senior thought: I don't have time to bother with these children. I have so many more important things on my mind, like graduation.

Not having to worry about what to do when you meet a senior in the hallway or what you are going to do after graduation are the benefits of being a member of the sophomore class.

Finally being able to be allowed on the roads appears to be the major accomplishment of the sophomore year. The great driver's license has at last been earned. Hitting that magical age of 16 and one month suddenly means that the weekends are full of cruising and no more chauffeuring by mommy and daddy.

Sophomores tend to become more involved in school activities. They immediately feel like they are more of a part of the school, and not the "little" freshmen of a year ago.

Just feeling less like a freshman and more like an upperclassman seems to sum up the year of being in between — the sophomore year.

In a hurry, Sophomore Kerry Sell races to school to make it by the 7:45 bell. Finally being able to drive to school is one of the privileges of turning the big "sweet 16."

Getting It Together

The sophomore class had a slow start but they eventually gained momentum and their spirit finally exploded.

In class competition, such as game day, powder-puff, and hall decorations, the sophomores placed only thirds and fourths.

The class finally got everything together toward the end of the football season. They demonstrated their spirit in the window decorating contest which was held at York's restaurant in Fishers and moved up in the rankings by placing a second place in this competition with the seniors placing first.

The sophomores with their added enthusiasm towards the later part of the first semester, have a bright future in class competition.

In the Beginning

Why do freshmen always look like freshmen? The upperclassmen made quite a few observations and noted in particular the freshmen's ability to carry many more books. If you see a student who is a little younger, a little lost, a little confused, and just over all little, then nine times out of ten you have spotted the rookie of the school — a freshman.

Starting inexperienced the 159 members of the freshmen class were able to have a successful year. In the beginning they entered the homecoming events and later in the year they purchased class rings from Herff-Jones.

The class was not able to have any money-making projects so they collected class dues of $2.00 per person. Their class sponsor is Miss Colleen Davis. She said, "The ring sales went very smoothly. The freshmen that worked on the float did an excellent job and put many industrious hours into it. I am very proud of the results and I think that the school will be having some great leaders in the next few years. I am glad to be sponsoring the class of 1985."

Moving Up

The freshman class shared many different opinions on their first day at the high school. Many freshmen expected to get lost, or not to be able to open their lockers.

Before the freshmen came to the high school, they were scared because they heard various rumors concerning their first day. "I heard that the high school would be so much more exciting than the middle school," Carla Propps said, "I was afraid of not finding my way around the building." Amy Roesinger commented "I was really getting tired of being in the middle school and I was ready to become a freshman." Many students did not know what to expect when they became freshmen, but they soon moved up by adjusting to the differences in the high school.

Freshman homeroom #123 started putting up decorations for the homeroom door competition before the football state championship. Even though homeroom #123 gave a good effort, another freshman homeroom won.

Swinging Onward

Excitement comes to the freshmen class as the time comes to select class rings. When the orders finally arrive students rush to compare their rings with their friends.

The main objective of freshman year is to just get through it as quickly as possible and then swing onward.

Giving Their Best

Our high school is not a big one, but for the six cooks, seven janitors and the 26 bus drivers, they sure have had a busy job.

The cooks had to cook for over 600 high school students every day. They had to get up every morning and prepare the meals that the students ate.

"This year the school lunch was raised from 65¢ to 80¢ due to the fact that the reimbursement was cut from the state. The money that the government gave to the school was decreased all over the state about 15¢," said Tom Heller, Principal of Durbin Elementary, and the head of the cafeteria department.

Every day the cooks had to put up with students cutting in line, food fights, and the many complaints.

The janitorial staff had to clean up the school after every sporting event, school activity, and every school day.

drivers, they sure had a busy job.

They even had to come in on the weekends to clean up the school.

The bus drivers are those who had to get up before the students and drive a whole busload of students to school every day. They had to drive through the fog, rain, and even the snow. We missed 11 days due to the snow. The bus drivers had to get the students to school safely every day even though the roads were very dangerous and icy.

The personnel definitely had a big role in keeping up the school

Master Minds

Working together to make the school system run more smoothly is the job of the school board and administration.

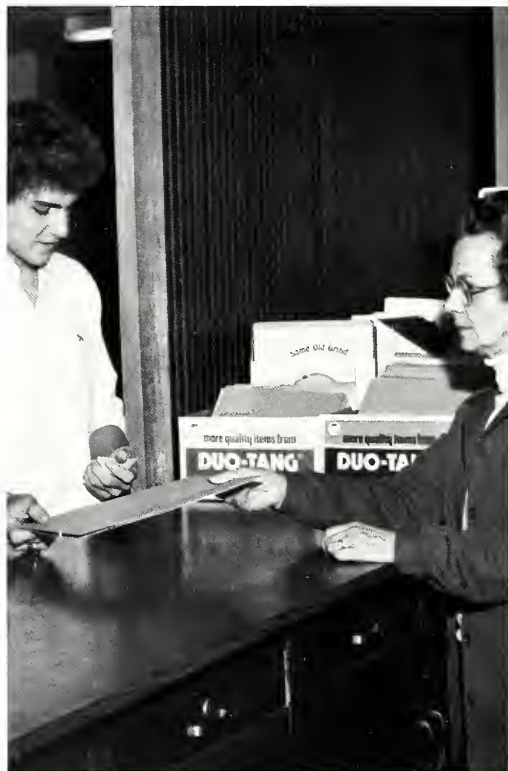

Being in charge of the school system means coping with problems every day and adjusting to new ideas and different guidelines each year.

The responsibility of the school board is to work together with the rest of the staff to make decisions about teachers, students, and school activities.

These people work together to keep the school more in order, keep it going at a steady rate, and help put more quality into the school system.

Spending money. Junior Dennis Elliott purchases a folder from the school treasurer, Mrs. June West.

Paid Responsibilities

Every morning at 7:30 the teachers are here to start another day, just like the students. The teachers devoted all their time to the school and to the students.

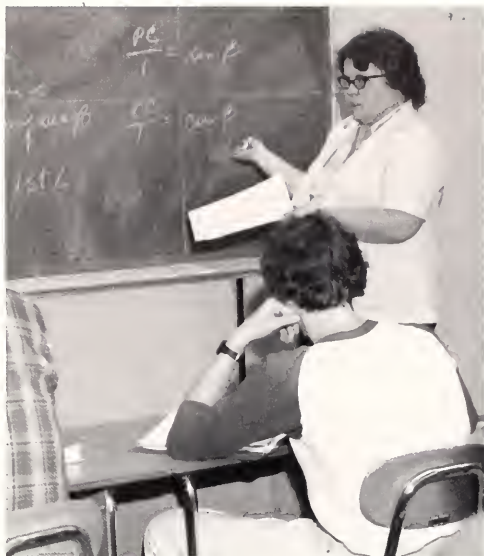

The teachers had a lot of responsibilities like grading tests, writing passes, and trying to keep their classes in order.

Most of the teachers even spent many nights and much of their extra spare time after school with the students being coaches, organizing clubs, and even holding afterschool sessions to help the students who didn't understand.

This year there was one new teacher, Mrs. Pam Clark, who headed the journalism department. She moved here from Colorado. There also was a teacher who did not teach last year, but taught here the year before last. The teacher is Mrs. Susan Wong and she is a part of the math department.

It was the job of the teacher to help, educate, and even become friends with the students.

OUT IN FRONT

Surrounding Us

They surrounded us. They became the community that supported our school. Whether they resided in Fishers, Noblesville, Castleton, or Fortville or whether they were simply interested in our growing school system was unimportant. The vital factor was that they were there.

The financial assistance they offered along with the vocal assistance offered at our athletic events helped us to maintain our standards of education and athletic accomplishments.

Without their involvement we would not be able to be as successful in all aspects of our school. With our supporters behind us we were by far OUT IN FRONT.

Victory. Senior Lynn Russell and Sophomore April Bledsoe celebrate. Enthusiasm such as this carried our athletic teams to success.

Seniors at work. Senior class members paint the windows at Fishers Shell during football play-offs.

Checking things over. Sports Editor Jim Host consults Mrs. Clark on a layout problem.

Deadlines Fall; Book Rises

"Should I bleed it? Who has the gouky gook? Let me in the darkroom. Where is Jeff? Someone think of a head. Mrs. Clark is eating Roloids like candy again. Jim stop hitting Betsy! Tom, get the safety pin out of your cheek!"

All these sounds could be heard while passing room 137 during yearbook class; but, believe it or not, work was being completed.

Despite as inexperienced staff and a rookie adviser, the 13 member yearbook staff produced what they feel is a high quality yearbook. Through the never-ending assistance of the adviser, Mrs. Pam Clark, the new members soon learned the basics of yearbooking so that production of the 1982 Sceptre could begin.

Working after school, on Saturdays, and slaving through sixth period yearbook class were all necessary to produce this book. All the staff members contributed toward producing the highest quality book possible.

The staff members gained responsibility as they filled the various positions on staff. Student Life Editor Lesley Cunion, Sports Editor Jim Host, People Section Editor Betsy Jones, Organization Editor Melissa Mathis, and Index Editor Penny Stanley filled the section editor positions. Photo Editor Jeff Higgins was assisted in the darkroom by Tom Hirschfeld and Steve Sell. Business Editor Lisa Murphy, Managing Editor Lossie Bell, Copy Editor Jean Lake, along with Editors' Choice winner Karen Cheshier assisted in the production. Sally Heidenreich fulfilled the duties of editor-in-chief, with Mrs. Pam Clark serving as adviser.

Capturing the spirit of the 1982 school year was the Sceptre staff's goal . . . we feel we achieved it.

Do it this way. Editor-in-Chief Sally Heidenreich explains a fine point of layout and design of a spread.

Looking Forward

It is over. Never has there been, nor ever will there be a year that could duplicate 1982. We have won and we have lost, but we have gained in spirit and mind.

We showed our strengths and surpassed our weaknesses. As individuals we strived, but as a group we flourished and achieved.

The records we established, the titles we earned, and the people we influenced are now in the past, but they will never be forgotten. The sorrow, happiness, and most of all — the memories will always be there. They will live in the minds of all who helped make 1982 a year that Hamilton Southeastern High School stood OUT IN FRONT.

A look into the future. Senior Steve Tam spends a moment alone to reminisce.

COLOPHON

Four hundred and thirty copies of the 1982 Sceptre were published by Herff Jones Yearbooks in Marceline, Missouri. The cover is in antique blue with old gold type. The metalay is in rich gold. The paper is #80 bordeaux. All text type and headlines are in Times Roman.
